

A low protein modified dried milk

GLAXO has always been pre-eminent as an infants' food on account of its great digestibility and remarkable bacterial purity.

To these features is now added the supreme advantage of standardisation to the composition of average breast milk.

PRESCRIPTION (HUMANISED) is indicated as the most suitable food for infants as a supplement to breast milk or at the commencement of hand feeding. For delicate marasmic cases it is invaluable. A Doctor writes: "I have found PRESCRIPTION GLAXO excellent in marasmic cases."
