I have read and understood the BMJ policy on declaration of interests and declare the following interests:

(list them or state "none")

None.

I am a Visiting Faculty Member of the Aga Khan University, Karachi, Pakistan where I teach epidemiology, biostatistics and research methodology. My board and accommodation is paid for and I receive a nominal honorarium (fixed) for the teaching I undertake. None of my work there has any link to advertising. One pilot study with which I am involved, is related to the validation of a scoring tool for early rheumatic heart disease in low resource children and includes the use of a digitally enhanced stethoscope. The study, however, has no links with the manufacturer of the stethoscope and there is no COI.
